Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 19 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Dry for most but cloudy and murky for many.

Today:
Low cloud and fog persisting for many, though with some sunny spells for Scotland and west Wales. Some patchy light rain and drizzle at times in east and north.

Tonight:
Cloudy for most, but fog and low cloud lifting overnight. Some clear periods to the lee of high ground, mainly west Wales, Scotland and north of Northern Ireland where frosty.

Monday:
Cloudy again for many, though cloud may begin to break during the day with some sunshine as slightly cooler conditions spread in from the east. Breezy in far southwest.

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Turning brighter but colder for most through Tuesday and Wednesday with overnight frost. Becoming unsettled from the southwest on Thursday with rain perhaps turning to snow across hills further north.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.